LACK OF ALIGNMENT

LOSS OF FOCUS

LOSS OF NERVE

INCONSISTENCY

The person who has by far the greatest impact on an employee is the employee's manager.

Managers are handling the most baffling material on Earth: people
-The Economist

Managers report higher stress and burnout than those they manage.

Reflection

- Ask yourself:
  - How much do you know about your people, and how often do you engage them around their lives?
  - Have you ever talked to them about the importance of their work in the context of other people's lives?
  - Have you worked with them to establish a clear, meaningful way to measure their success?
- Managing is not merely a job or a title; it's a vocation and a ministry.

The Three Signs of a Miserable Job

Employees who don't know how their work impacts the lives of others will not be fulfilled in their jobs.

Employees who can't assess their own level of performance and success will not be fulfilled in their jobs.

Employees who aren't known and individually appreciated by their managers will not be fulfilled in their jobs.

Engagement

- Measure

- Survey your employees using credible, comprehensive questions.

- Have Growth-Oriented Conversations

- Bring your survey findings to life through genuine conversations.

- Provide Clear, Ongoing Communication

- Managers must implement leadership decisions while motivating their team to get work done.
- Provide clear expectations, the right resources and opportunities to do what each person does best.

- Focus on Wellbeing

- Employees, managers and supervisors all need to feel they are continuously developing in their work and overall lives.
- The five elements of wellbeing — career, social, financial, physical and community — to reduce the odds of burnout, stress, worry, anxiety and depression

- Have Strengths-based Conversations

- You can help make managers' jobs easier by teaching them to have higher-quality conversations — ones that occur frequently and that focus on employees' strengths.

Engaged Employees:

- Are 2X as likely to be thriving in their lives
- Can see opportunities for growth & development
- Put in extra effort to create exceptional customer value
- Feel connected to the mission & purpose of the organization
- Have co-workers they collaborate with
- Are more resilient during hard times

Summit: "How do we grow?"

- 12) This last year, I have had opportunities at work to learn and grow.
- 11) In the last six months, someone at work has talked to me about my progress.

Camp 2: "Do I belong here?"

- 10) I have a confidante at work.
- 9) My associates (fellow employees) are committed to doing quality work.
- 8) The mission/purpose of my company makes me feel my job is important.
- 7) At work, my opinions seem to count.

Camp 1: "What do I give?"

- 6) There is someone at work who encourages my development.
- 5) My supervisor, or someone at work, seems to care about me as a person.
- 4) In the last seven days, I have received recognition or praise for doing good work.
- 3) At work, I have the opportunity to do what I do best every day.

Base Camp: "What do I get?"

- 2) I have the materials and equipment I need to do my work right.
- 1) I know what is expected of me at work

Mountain Climbing

If “base camp” needs are not addressed, then everything you do for your team members to further them along the journey will be irrelevant...

If the employee doesn't know what is expected of her as an individual (Base Camp),
Then you shouldn't ask her to get excited about playing on a team (Camp 2)

If they feel as though they are in the wrong role (Camp 1),
Don't pander to them by telling them how important their innovative ideas are to the company's re-engineering efforts (Camp 3)

If he doesn't know what his manager thinks of him as an individual (Camp 1), don't confuse him by challenging him to become part of the “new organization” (Camp 3)

Strengths Interview

- 1) What keeps you here?
- 2) What do you think your strengths are? (skills, knowledge, talent)
- 3) What tasks here are a poor use of your abilities?
- 4) What are your goals for your current role?
(Ask for scores and timelines)
- 5) How often would you like to meet with me to discuss your progress?
Are you the kind of person who will tell me how you are feeling, or will I have to ask?
- 6) Do you have any personal goals or commitments you would like to tell me about?
- 7) What is the best praise you have ever received?
What made it so good?
- 8) Have you had any really productive partnerships or mentors?
Why do you think these relationships worked so well for you?
- 9) What are your future growth and career goals?
Are there any particular skills you want to learn?
Are there some specific challenges you want to experience?
How can I help?
- 10) Is there anything else you want to talk about that might help us work well together?

Career Discovery Questions

- How would you describe success in your current role?
Can you measure it?
- What do you do that makes you as good as you are?
What does this tell you about your skills, knowledge and talents?
- Which part of your current role do you enjoy the most?
Why?
- Which part of your current role are you struggling with?
What does this tell you about your skills, knowledge and talents?
What can we do to manage around this?
Training? Positioning? Support system? Partnering?
- What would be the perfect role for you?
Imagine you are in that role. It's 3pm on a Thursday. What are you doing?
Why would you like it so much?

Engaged Employees:

- Are 2X as likely to be thriving in their lives

2024 Key Findings

Tool Utilization Challenges: "Getting the most out of the tool" remains a significant challenge, highlighting issues with technological redundancy and staff change management.

Generative AI: Few agencies recognize GenAI as a significant new technology. Catalyit believes it will significantly impact agency operations and profitability, surpassing any technology in the last 15 years.

Marketing Automation: Since 2022, 16% more agencies have adopted marketing automation platforms

Reputation Management: There has been a slight increase in the use of reputation management tools.

Cybersecurity: This remains a major vulnerability, especially with increased employee workloads. Agencies need to differentiate between general IT/MSP services and specialized cybersecurity consultants.

Data Analytics: More agencies should utilize data analytics tools to gain strategic insights, make informed business decisions, and improve overall efficiency and performance.

Commercial Lines Quoting/Rating Platforms: The use of these platforms continues to grow, with 24% of respondents using at least one solution.

Overall Technology Use: Since last year's report, there has been no significant improvement in agencies' use of technology.

Technology Pragmatist

Organizations that are technology pragmatist tend to adopt new technologies only after others have tested it. They want assurances that new versions of existing programs will work well. They will consider implementing new technology only after they have received solid references and assurances from technology enthusiasts that the new product or service will not be a failure when implemented within their organization.

They are careful to make sure that any new technology they adopt will not cause more problems than it solves. Technology pragmatists are the most common type of insurance organization.
